

Biography of Wanda Reinholdt

Wanda is a forward-thinking pioneer in the Arts and in Business who has a heart for community and for growing effective self-sustaining partnerships in life, business and the arts. This yearning comes from a strong upbringing in a rural community, and a family who has been consistently leading and teaching commitment to responsibilities and relationships.

With her BA's in Theatre and Music and with her gifts of administration and encouragement, Wanda founded Reinholdt Productions, a theatrical production company specializing in the systemic design of projects through directing, teaching, writing, and creative problem solving.

Wanda's skills are best used in a community where Directing and Producing Partnerships in theatre and music are formed. In addition, Wanda has exercised her skills in Business Partnerships in the form of Administrative and Strategic Relationships; Mentoring Opportunities; and Leadership and Personal Development Coaching. These skills act as a magnet attracting resources that enable clients to choose a way to contribute with strength to their world.

For the past 6 years, Wanda has directed numerous Semi-Professional and Community Theatre Productions and has been engaged as a Venture Partner with Entrepreneurial, Leadership, and Personal Development Trainer, Tracey Sisson. Together, Tracey and Wanda have created and formed supportive relationships with other owners and leaders in both the Business Sector and the Citizen Sector. These relationships assist to lay foundations for the forming of self-sustaining and long-lasting partnerships.

She lives with her husband, John, on his childhood country home near Calgary, Alberta where they are building many more memories including the goal for a retreat center that promotes rejuvenation and legacy especially for artists.
